Air Mail Service Starts Next July

A trans Canadian air mail service will be inaugurated July 1, next according to Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of transportation, who has just completed an extensive trip over the proposed route, and inspection of landing fields, etc. Asked whether the mountain storms would disrupt the service, the Minister stated that all flying over the mountains would be by radio beam, and that night flying and blind flying offered no problems under these conditions.

It is not expected that passengers will be carried in the mail planes until the route has been well established and proven safe. The Minister expressed the opinion that the route would produce a revenue over operating costs, and would not need to be subsidized by the Government.

NEWS NOTES

Mrs. Fred Burton with LaMaun and Jean, spent Thanksgiving Day with relatives in Raymond.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dewberry and family have moved to Picture Butte, where Frank has been made foreman in the sugar end of the new factory.

A trip over the Franco Oil structure and visit to the well, with a luncheon in the evening at the Cahoon Cafe, Cardston, was planned for Wednesday, including a number of local men. Due, however, to the Wednesday afternoon not being a holiday, the trip was postponed indefinitely.

WILL PENALIZE HORNED CATTLE NEXT YEAR

Next year's model in cattle goes officially streamline. Beginning May 1, 1937, the cow with the crumpled horn, long famed in nursery rhyme, will virtually disappear from the market when buyers for packing plants impose a long-pending penalty of one dollar a head for all cattle wearing out-moded battle adornments. Announcement to this effect is made by the Industrial and Development Council of Canadian Meat Packers.

EDITORS WIVES FETED

The afternoon at the Glencoe club, the Calgary branch of the Canadian Women's Press Club will entertain weekly newspaper women and wives of members of the Alberta Division, Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association, who are in the city for the annual convention. Mrs. W. Roland Winger presided over the tea table which was centered with spray 'mums in autumn shades. Out of town guests will be: Mrs. H. G. Thunell, Viking; Mrs. Harry Ford, Lacombe; Mrs. F. T. Edwards, Picher Creek; Mrs. H. T. Halliwell, Coleman; Mrs. G. C. Duncan, Banff; Mrs. E. S. Duncan, Drumheller; Mrs. R. C. Storch, Camangay; Mrs. A. A. Moore, Strathmore; Mrs. John Hucklell, Inglefoll; Mrs. D. C. Peterson, Mrs. F. Burton, Cardston; Mrs. W. L. Kew, Staveland; Mrs. I. H. Holden, Cereal; Mrs. M. C. Nickelson, Chiswick; Mrs. Jon E. Gooder, Didsbury; Mrs. Charles Dunford, Sylvan Lake; Mrs. Clive Nisbitt, Brooks; Mrs. S. I. May, Raymond; Mrs. R. L. Mills, Cardston; Miss Hazel McCrae, Hanna. — Calgary Herald.

THE LOCAL PAPER

Paisley Advocate: "Up in Penetang the Board of Trade recently called a meeting to discuss the announcement by the town newspaper. The editor of the Penetang Herald, C. M. Hewson, had announced that due to lack of subscribers and advertising in the town, he could publish no longer. Until this move by the editor, the townspeople and merchants of Penetang had failed to give the local paper any encouragement. Subscriptions fell off and the advertising grew less and less until the owner was publishing his newsy little sheet at a financial loss. So he closed his plant sooner than go any deeper into the red. Immediately this happened the citizens snapped out of their apathy and realizing what a blow it would be to the prestige of the town, began a campaign to interview people and plan ways and means of continuing the publication. 'The lack of a town paper affects the town badly, and we should do everything we can to get it started again,' vehemently declared Mr. J. McTaggart, of the Board Trade. The same situation occurred some years ago down in Palmerston, where Mr. Anderson, who for years had published 'The Spectator' at a financial loss, pulled up stakes and moved to Guelph, leaving the railroad town without a local paper. Citizens and business men of the town who for years had refused to advertise or otherwise support the local paper, set forth to entice another editor to set up shop in Palmerston, and finally a party was found who agreed to publish a paper, 'The Observer.' And having had a taste of a newspaperless district for several months, the Palmerston merchants decided that perhaps advertising was the best after all, and today the Observer is one of the best patronized exchanges that come into this office. What is more, the merchants declare that since they began to advertise through the columns of the paper, their business has shown a decided increase. For the town of Palmerston will never again be without a local newspaper."

After delays getting units adjusted and working in the new mill at Picture Butte it is now getting about 1,200 ton daily, with an expected increase as the machinery loosens up more.

The pages of this paper are the shop windows of Raymond. If your name is not in the list of those advertising, is it any wonder that business passes you by. Join in the happy family of advertisers and watch your business grow.

PRINTER'S CODE BEGINS OCTOBER 15

Edmonton. — Proclamation of the printer's code setting a schedule of prices for printing work in Alberta will be made effective from October 15, Hon. E. C. Manning, minister of trade and industry, said here today. Report that the code, as finally approved, contained cuts of 10 per cent on originally planned price schedules, is not correct, the minister said. Prices agreed upon in recent negotiations will be effective under the code.

Beet Harvest Is Being Pushed

With the wonderful weather that has been prevailing recently, the beet harvest has been pushed with every hour of daylight, and more than 65 per cent of the beet crop has been harvested as this paper goes to press. One farmer Thursday evening smiled as he stated, "My beets are all up. When we start that job there is no rest until it is completed. Wheat can be harvested from under the snow, but not beets, and we sure use all the daylight when we start the beet harvest." There are quite a number who have finished. Yields have been well up to estimates, one Stirling grower reporting an average of better than 13 tons.

The Raymond mill is slicing about 1,300 tons of beets daily, and the new Picture Butte mill is daily increasing its average until it will be about the same before many days. Between the two factories about 80,000 lbs of sugar are now in storage.

The beet cut off for first payment was Thursday, October 15th, and for the next two weeks the staff at the local office will be computing the accounts and getting the checks ready for mailing on November 1st, about 130,000 tons of beets will be paid for on this date likely at the rate of $5.50 per ton, and this payment will be a big boon to growers and labor who in some instances have their summer's work tied up in this crop.

News Notes

J. U. and C. E. Allred and party returned home from Utah Saturday evening 1st and report a very enjoyable trip.

Thursday's reports stated that rebels were within 25 miles of Madrid, and continuing to advance despite the resistance of the Loyalists.

Newspaper reports state that the first dividends issued by the Social Credit Government will be in the Pincher Creek district as this area is really first. Other districts will receive theirs as fast as they get the machinery ready to distribute them. These can only be used for the purchase of Made in Alberta Goods, and some are of the opinion that it will be a job to find Alberta goods in many of the stores.

Gordon Brewerton of Cardston was in Raymond today.

As usual, the turkey was the chief sufferer on Monday last Thanksgiving Day. It is likely too that a great many people suffered from over-indulgence of the good things of the earth.

Read the Notice re Relative and Tenants entering their names in order to vote at the forthcoming civic election. This list is at the Town Hall and must be signed personally between now and November 1st if you want a vote and have no property in your own name. Don't blame anyone else if your name is not put on this list.

A very peculiar accident occurred in the Drumheller district last week. A party in a Ford car on their way to a dance, came upon a car stalled in the road with engine trouble. The Ford was going to push the other car to start it, but the Ford bumper was too high. One of the passengers volunteered to stand on the bumper and spring it down. The lead car took the road with such a jump that the bumper rider lost his balance and fell under the Ford being almost instantly killed as the Ford passed over him.

Doctor Wiens Leaves Raymond for Taber

(Contributed)

It is a matter that brings us regret when, after a new doctor comes to our midst, gets acquainted, and seems to get the confidence of the people, that for some reason, not explained to the public, he leaves us and it becomes necessary to have a new and untrained physician come in and take his place.

Dr. Wiens, who has now left us, and while Dr. Leech, so far as his health will permit, gives the town the benefit of his services, yet the town feels it is a matter that concerns all the residents to know that medical attention from an experienced and reliable practitioner can be had at all times, and this, we feel the size and business of the town, can consistently claim.

For several months, the town has been investigating Medical Contacts, with a desire to give all its residents an equal show to get first class medical treatment for a nominal price. We have now prepared a contract, based on the experiences, and prices paid in other districts, which we feel will allow the physician a fair remuneration for his services, and at the same time bring the medical services actually required by each family within the reach of all.

The contracts will soon be presented to the Medical Practitioners for their approval, and a drive will be made for signers. We would like our residents to think these matters over, and not to sign contracts elsewhere, as no doubt we can all work together and get full pay for each month's work, and not have to carry the burden of unpaid doctor bills.

Ratpayers, please think these things over, and when our contract is presented, be ready to sign it and pay for a years services.

HISCHOOL THROUGH

A KEYHOLE

(By Denton Young Brewerton)
What is happening at the Raymond Hi-School that could be of interest to you? I can answer that in one word. Nothing.

When I say this, I do not mean that nothing ever happens at the Hi. Students go every morning and every afternoon to this school. They sit in classrooms and try to learn something. Some do and some do not. But that is of no real interest to you. Several years ago, you yourself sat in these same classrooms. Some of you learned something and some of you did not.

Each week, I hope to bring to you something interesting concerning the students of the Raymond Hi. Sometimes they will be good. Sometimes you will wonder why they were ever printed. But always remember that I am just a Hi school student, who does not know much about writing for a paper or much about anything else.

For the past month, we have been going to school. That is, we have been going very once in a while. There has been so many holidays that I am wondering when school will officially start. The only reason why I am wondering, is that I paid fifty cents on my budget jacket and I would like to get a little benefit out of it.

As I walked about the school the opening day, I noticed a little chap sitting on the stairs. His chubby face wore a dejected look. Seeing him sitting there I thought of my little brother, who was just five years old, feeling sorry for him I started over that way, my walk was slow and unhurried, but with a little swagger in it, as any senior should have.

I said in a paternal voice, "Don't feel so blue sonny, you will be coming to Hi-School in a few years." The boy got to his feet and stared at me, as though spell bound. Then throwing out his chest he said,

"I am a ninth grader." With these words, he marched arrogantly up the stairs.

I could hardly get back to my classroom. What was this world coming to.

This ends this week's column. I'll be back next week with more news about your children and my classmates.

"I'll be seeing ya."

NEWS NOTES

J. U. and C. E. Allred, Jos. A. Nilsson, Ira McBride and son of the family were in Court Wednesday attending the funeral services of Mrs. Helberg, an old time acquaintance. Jos. Nilsson and J. U. Allred were speakers at the services. A. D. Woolley was also one of the party from here.

In last week's report of the Women's Institute meeting the name of Mrs. Elgie M. Stevenson was inadvertently omitted. Mrs. Stevenson is to be Convener of Home Economics in the local Institute for the coming year.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Webster left Wednesday for LeGrande, Oregon to spend the winter with her niece Mrs. Ethel Peterson Anderson. Mrs. Anderson and a friend having not had here to take Mr. and Mrs. Webster back with her.

The annual Convention of the Alberta Division of Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association was held in the Palliser Hotel, Calgary, Friday and Saturday last, and was attended by about 50 editors and wives, including Ye editor and his better half. Along with the business of the Convention the social side was well taken care of, three banquets being tendered the Editors and wives by the following: Friday noon, banquet by the Grain and Milling Advertising Service Winnipeg; Major H. G. L. Strange, World Champion Wheat Grower, and now with the Research Department of the Seale Grain Co. was the speaker, and gave a fine talk on improving the quality of our export wheat, as Canada is lagging behind in this. We may have more to say of this later on.

Friday evening the two paper supply houses of Calgary, Barber-Elis, Ltd., and the Mid-West Paper Sales, were hosts, and here again everything possible was done for the comfort and satisfaction of the press. Paul Reading, Executive Editor of the Calgary Herald was speaker at this function taking as his topic "In the hard Times." He gave it as his opinion that the struggle in the next few years would not be because of the depression but because of trying to put the brakes on the era of prosperity.

Saturday at noon, the Calgary Daily Herald sponsored the luncheon and were hosts. The speaker here was E. L. Gray, Manager of the Eastern Irrigation District, who asked what might the weekly press do to assist agriculture in Alberta, and stated that it could encourage people to stay on their farms, and make the urban life permanent and pleasant.

During the four sessions of the Convention discussions ranged from shop to Government and almost everywhere else, but everyone voiced his opinions and reasons for those opinions. A practical talk was given by H. T. Halliwell, of the Coleman Journal on problems of the country editor, and Mr. Crell, of the Albertan Job Press, gave a very practical talk on "Problems of the Press Room." Both the talks were greatly appreciated by the members of the craft present.

On Saturday afternoon the Press Women's Club of Calgary entertained the ladies at the Glencoe Club, a report of which is printed elsewhere in this paper.

Officers elected at the Convention were:

Immediate Past President.— Grover C. Duncan, Drumheller Mail.
President — H. T. Halliwell, Coleman Journal.
Vice-Pres.— F. P. Galbraith, Red Deer Advocate.
2nd Vice-Pres.— Ralph C. Leysup, Macleod Gazette.
Sec. Treas. — H. G. McCrea, Hanna Herald.
Executive.—H. J. Ford, Lacombe Globe; A. R. Ennis, Leduc Representative, and Rae L. King, Claresholm Press.

Another squabble is underway to unseat James Hansen, M.L.A., at Taber for the Social Credit party. Evidently there is a faction in the party that expect a man to never think of anything but Social Credit. We would think if a man went ahead and looked after the interest of his constituency and supported the Government that would be all that was necessary.

WHAT OF THE FUTURE

Individually Mr. John Canadian, what is your vision of the future? We hear a great deal about securities and cash being transferred from Alberta, for good and various reasons, presumably, so that it will be, beyond the reach of what some think is avaricious hands that may desire to use it. The earnings of these securities is not considered, the benefits they may be in our own province of getting things back to normal is not considered. It is all a matter of distrust of those in authority.

Without any argument one way or the other respecting the good judgment, of this action, of which we know nothing. There is definitely another side to the picture. These things are not the life blood of the people. Permanence honesty, integrity and ambition are what build nations and provinces. If these NECESSARY things remain, prosperity can be reconstructed, despite the fact the riches of our Province taking wings may entail hardships and disappointments on many. The day that Albertans lose the spirit of conquest and advancement, that day will our sun begin to set. True enough we need wealth and will have it, but the wealth we enjoy today has been made by someone's sweat, if not our own, our neighbors, and as long as we are blessed with natural resources, more can be produced.

We are not questioning the action of individuals and firms who have moved their securities and savings out. This is their own business. However, the securities and investments that cannot be moved are the big thing. There are still here. If we get into a state of collapse, what has been sent out will have to come back to save what is here, and eventually, it may be sent in everything being lost, where as if some had been kept here to help out with, all might have been saved and increased.

There is a spirit of indecision in the hearts of many. Locally this should be dispelled. If Alberta is our home then Alberta's future is our future. Are we going to help build, and push our province ahead, or are we going to sit down and let someone else do the work, and then try and cash in on their efforts. Our province and our future is bigger than any political party, and today is our day. We don't know what the future holds, or whether we will be here, but TODAY we can do something. Ask yourself "What of the Future?"

Russia has demanded that the neutrality committee isolate the Spanish rebellion to Spain and force all other nations to keep out. Failure to do this may result in Russia taking a direct hand.

IMPORTANCE OF WEEKLY PRESS

No one knows the problems of rural Alberta quite so well as the publishers of weekly newspapers who live in close contact with the farmers and dwellers in towns and villages. As a class these publishers are level-headed men and keen observers of conditions and trends. Their views are to be respected.

The Alberta Weekly Newspapermen's Association has just concluded an annual convention in this city. Not only did they discuss their personal problems, but also touched on larger issues of province-wide and national importance. Their deliberations were sensible and broadminded.

The province of Alberta owes a debt of gratitude to its weekly newspaper publishers that may never be fully paid. They have made peculiar contributions to the progress and development of the province in good times and bad. They have been moulders of public thought in the past and will continue to be in the future. They fill an important and necessary function in the life of Alberta.

Calgary is pleased to have had them convene here. Most of the citizens realize the important sphere these editors occupy in the province and are appreciative of the services rendered, oftentimes without regard to monetary reward. This feeling should be general throughout the province.

The weekly newspaper occupies a local field which no other agency can fill. It is not so much concerned with general provincial, national or international developments; the happenings in its vicinity are its immediate concern. It is important that Alberta should have the highest type of weekly news papers and every district should encourage and support its local press.—Calgary Herald.

Policyholders Own the "Assets" of Life Insurance Companies

As a great co-operative enterprise, Life Insurance has built up Assets in Canada totalling, approximately, two billion dollars. Yet these Assets are relatively small when it is realized that they are jointly owned by about 3,500,000 policyholders—one-third of Canada's population.

On the average, each policyholder owns $571 as his share of the total Assets in Life Companies operating in Canada. Obviously, the great majority of policyholders are men and women of ordinary means—thrifty people who, year by year, have entrusted to Life Insurance part of their savings so that they may have financial security against the uncertain future.

These policyholders represent the best type of Canadian citizens. They have sought to preserve their financial independence, and, as thrifty citizens, neither they nor their dependants are ever likely to become charges upon government or municipal relief.

To protect the interests of these 3,500,000 Canadian policyholders, Life Insurance Companies have invested their Assets in government and municipal bonds—in first mortgages—in public utilities and industrial enterprises—and in other authorized securities.

The soundness of the Investment policy of the Companies has been tried and proven during periods of severe financial stress. Governing and corporate bodies in which policyholders' moneys are invested have, until recently, maintained the integrity of their obligations. This has made it possible in turn for the companies, in their capacity as trustees for the policyholders, to fulfill every obligation guaranteed by their policies.

Now, however, there is a growing tendency to repudiate, by legislation, public and private debts, regardless of the debtor's ability to pay. Legislation which tends to destroy the ownership of public and private property places an unjust burden upon life insurance policyholders.

WEEKLY LETTER

FEEDING THE MILKING HERD

In this the third of a series of weekly letters on feeding the milking herd some short notes are given regarding the comparative values of a number of different dairy cattle feeds. It is hoped that this information may be used as a guide by farmers who may have to purchase feeds with which they are not familiar.

BRAN: Wheat bran is an excellent feed for dairy cows. It is usually fed in combination with heavier feeds such as barley, but even when fed as a sole concentrate it has been found to be equal in value to a mixture of equal parts of oats and barley. Bran is relatively rich in phosphorus, but poor in calcium so that either a good legume hay or a mineral supplement containing calcium should be fed with it.

SHORTS: Wheat shorts are not as palatable and are a slightly heavier feed than bran. If fed as not more than 50p.c. of the meal mixture shorts will be found to be full as valuable, pound for pound, as barley or oats.

RYE: Rye may safely be fed to dairy cows if it is fed in small amounts, preferably mixed with other grains. A grain ration containing a high proportion of rye is not very palatable and in addition it is likely to cause the production of hard dry butter.

SCREENINGS: Recleaned elevator screenings is a valuable feed for the dairy cow and for milk production purposes is likely to have about the same value as an equal weight of a good meal mixture.

MOLASSES: About 3 pounds of beet molasses per day may safely be fed to dairy cows. The amount of nutrients in beet molasses is likely to vary somewhat in different samples but based on the amount of nutrients it contains, the feed value of beet molasses is usually estimated at about three quarters that of barley. Molasses is often fed as an appetizer to induce cows to consume larger quantities of low-grade hay and when used in this way it may have a somewhat higher value. When fed in moderate amounts beet molasses has a beneficial laxative effect.

MINERALS: Much has been written in recent years on the subject of minerals in live stock feeding and perhaps in some instances their value has been over emphasized. Nevertheless, there is abundant evidence that, particularly when low grade feeds are being used, a mineral supplement is a valuable addition to a dairy cow ration. An expensive complex mixture is not essential a simple mixture containing calcium and phosphorus supplemented by a supply of salt, preferably iodized for pregnant animals, is all that is necessary.

Wheat sold at $1.14½ at Winnipeg on Wednesday.

John S. Smith of Cardston, was a business visitor here Wednesday.

HEALTH

A HEALTH SERVICE OF THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION AND LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES IN CANADA

PRE NATAL CARE

The importance of Pre Natal Care has been recognized for ages but it was not till 1900 that it was organized on a wide and scientific basis by Doctor Ballantyne of Edinburgh, who received from a friend, a legacy of $5,000 for this great cause.

The little pre natal ward that he established in the Edinburgh Royal Infirmary had a garden and Dr. Ballantyne's plans were most kind, enlightened and successful. We have learned since that every expectant mother should have pre natal care to keep her well, to prepare her for a safe and comfortable pregnancy and a successful delivery. The way to get this necessary care is for the expectant mother to go see her doctor as soon as she knows that she is to be a Mother, and beguiled by his advice.

Of course the family physician is the one to whom the Mother goes and if she and her husband have not chosen a family physician then they should choose one without delay. Do not think, because the birth will not take place for a few months that there is plenty of time. That is not true, for it is important to have the Doctor's advice from the very first, so that he can do his best for the Mother and make sure that everything is all right. Nature's preparations for child birth are complex and wonderful and important beyond words. Nearly always, everything is all right, if the Mother knows what to do and does it. But how does she know what to do, unless she has the best of medical advice and care? — and the Doctor is the only one who can give her that.

People should be very careful in choosing a Doctor. It is a most important decision. Choose a Doctor whom people trust and respect, who has had some experience, who is devoted to his work and of whom other doctors speak well. Young Doctors nowadays are generally very good, well trained and careful. It is well to arrange with the Doctor for care during all the months before the birth and until the Mother is recovered and able to be up again. The Doctor will probably arrange with the mother to come to see him every month for the first seven months and then twice a month or oftener for the rest of the time. He will tell the Mother, when to bring a specimen of the water and will give her all the necessary advice and directions and help, and make the necessary examinations at the right time. It is usually the best plan to arrange for reasonable fee to cover medical care during the whole time, including the time of birth and for a short time afterwards.

But if, for any reason, the prospective father is not in a position to pay for medical and nursing care for his wife, then the Hospital or the Medical Officer of Health or the Municipal officers will help him to arrange for such care.

The Mother must be well cared for during the whole time of pregnancy.

Questions concerning health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College St. Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

The bride of but a short time noticed that her husband was depressed. "Gerald, dearest," she said, "I know something is troubling you, and I want you to tell me what it is; your worries are not your worries now, they are our worries." "We just had a letter from a girl in New York and she's suing us for breach of promise!"

The members of the Women's Institute and a few friends met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Terry last Tuesday afternoon to honor Mrs. R. J. Webber, who left Wednesday to spend the winter in LeGrande, Oregon. A very pleasant afternoon was spent and a delicious lunch served.
